"SPRING FEVER"

It is not a disease but simply a sign that many body cells have become tired or lazy after the stress of winter conditions. Such cells need to be nourished and fed, not whipped into temporary activity by so-called "tonics." Father John's Medicine helps Nature repair and rebuild tissue. It contains no drugs nor alcohol. Hence, it is a builder not a breaker. It is a food-medicine, not a mere tonic. In use for over sixty years.

WALKOUT BY LOCAL ELECTRICIANS

Demand for a 15 per cent. increase in wages has been made by the electricians of this city and Westerly, but it is reported that no agreement will be made by the employers. The electricians ask for $1 per hour, with other concessions by the employers. The existing agreement between the employers and the electricians expires on June 5 and it is said that if the employers do not meet the demands the electricians will strike.

As the Norwich electricians and those in Westerly are affiliated, it will cause a walkout in the city.

About 150 local men will be called out if the strike goes into effect, and will include employees of the Norwich Gas and Electric company, the Norwich Electric company, Eaton-Chase company and Otis & Morse.

FALLS CO. AND BALTIC MILLS ADVANCE WAGES

The Falls company has announced an advance in wages of 15 per cent. in line with the recent general advance in textile mills in New England.

The Baltic Mills company is also putting into effect a wage advance at their big cotton mill at Baltic.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Stephen A. Bailey

Emma C. Frazier, widow of Stephen A. Bailey, died in this city Tuesday evening following a short illness. About three weeks ago Mrs. Bailey suffered an attack of diphtheria from which she recovered but a short time ago complications set in and she failed rapidly until her death.

Mrs. Bailey was born in this city on June 14, 1868, the daughter of Thomas M. and Louise Hood Frazier. Practically all of her life has been spent in this city and for a number of years has made her home at 465 East Main street.

On Jan. 1, 1884 in this city, she was united in marriage with Stephen A. Bailey, of Leyard by Rev. E. K. Stratton. Her husband died nine years ago as the result of a fractured skull which he received in a runaway accident on Central wharf.

Mrs. Bailey was a member of the Methodist church and was one of the founders of the King's Daughters in this city. She was a woman of charming personality and made many friends in this city who mourn her loss.

Mrs. Bailey leaves two children. Howard S. Bailey for some time has been employed on the railroad at Hartford and Mrs. William Shugart of this city. There are two brothers, William Albert Frazier and Joseph T. Frazier of Norwich Town.

Mrs. William Geer

After an illness of two weeks, Mary Ann Avery, wife of the late William Geer, died at her home at 35 Park street, Norwich, she was born in Leyard, December 2, 1825.

At the death of her mother, Mary Ann Gallivan, her grandparents, Isaac and Prudence Geer Gallivan, took her to their home, where she lived until united in marriage with William Geer of Wolcottville, March 24, 1857. At his death, which occurred January 25, 1895, she returned to her grandparents, to comfort them in their declining years.

The last years of her life she has been with her cousins, the Misses Ellen and Lucy Geer.

Cheerful and thoughtful for others, her memory will be ever treasured.

WEDDING

Cornell-Rondel

At 1 o'clock Monday afternoon Mark A. Cornell and Miss Helen Frances Rondel, both of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. Arthur P. Purkiss, pastor of the Central Baptist church. The couple were married at the home of the minister, No. 158 Broadway.

Mr. Cornell, who is employed as a drug clerk, is a native of New London and has made his home at No. 118 School street. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Cornell. His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rondel and has made her home at No. 72 Laurel Hill avenue. She was born in Greenfield, Mass.

Batchers 412 Hogs in Season.

Fred Williams of Waterford, known as the official killer of hogs in the towns of Waterford, East Lyme and Old Lyme, has completed his season's work in butchering and announces that a total of 412 hogs have gone down under his knife. This is a slight falling off from last year's total of 420, but the number is considered high when it is stated by Mr. Williams that less than 50 per cent. of the pork has been sold in the open market.

Williams, who is known in the country districts as "Butter the Killer," has followed the occupation of butchering hogs for 15 years and during that time he says his books show that he has killed more than 5,000 hogs.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

The Wednesday club met with Mrs. W. Tyler O'Connell at her home.

Miss Matilda R. Randall has returned after spending several weeks in Atlantic City.

Mrs. Thomas E. Bartlett, who has been visiting Mrs. George L. Carey of Williams street, has returned to Providence.

Miss Nancy E. Lucas and Miss Mary C. Lucas, of Sachem street, write from Santa Barbara, Cal., of enjoyable sight-seeing trip in the Golden State.

Mrs. Edward H. Crowell (Carrie Davis Collins) who has been the guest of Mrs. Charles W. Vaughn, of Warren street, has returned to Hartford.

STREET COMMISSIONER REPORTS ON YEAR

Three main roads under construction in the months of July, August and September are mentioned as among the important work done by the Norwich street department in the past year in the summary that Street Commissioner James P. Fox makes in his annual report submitted to the recent meeting of the council.

The year ending April 30, 1920, has been a busy one for the street department. During July, August and September it had three main roads under construction, North Main street, West Thames street, Laurel Hill avenue and Church street.

Under the head of macadam repairs, the street commissioner was able to rebuild and patch Laurel Hill avenue from the bridge to the city line, Shetucket street from Water street to the dock, McKinley avenue from Grove to Broad street, patching and laying tar in B and sanding was done on West Main street from Thames square to the city line. The work done also covered all of Central street, North Main street, on Eighth street to Boswell avenue, Boswell avenue to the city line, Broad street from Grove to Washington street, all of Otis street, to Cliff street from Main to Hamlin street.

Church street was rebuilt from Union square to Washington street and tarring and sanding. The department laid 23,000 gallons of tar in B and on dirt roads, 24,000 gallons of 30 per cent. oil as a dust layer. It also used 3,500 tons of crushed stone for macadam repairs.

The widening of West Thames street, the building of the new sewer and the laying of a new concrete sidewalk from the street to Shipping street was a large operation that gave the city a new road for a distance of 3,000 feet. A new concrete road was built from Shetucket street to Second street on North Main street, a distance of 2,350 feet. Gravel was laid on what is called Fox Hill on Main street, south on Boswell avenue, from Franklin to Routh street, with cinders to Hickory street and numerous other road work was done. A new sewer was built on Williams street.

On the financial side of the account the following showing is made:

Ordinary repairs—Appropriation $45,000, disbursements $10,113.11, balance $34,886.89.

CAPT. G. R. CASE DIES

SUDDENLY IN HARTFORD

Capt. George R. Case, formerly of this city, died suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert A. Kohn at 230 Keyson street, Hartford, about 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

He returned two weeks ago from Bermuda, where he spent the summer and had been about as usual every day. Wednesday morning he got his hat and cane and was bidding good bye to Mrs. Kohn when he suddenly collapsed and died in a few minutes.

Captain Case was one of the best known Hartford veterans of the Civil war. He went to Hartford in 1860 and in the internal revenue office had gained for him a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

He was born in Norwich Aug. 26, 1840. Most of his boyhood days were spent on the farm of Bela T. Hastings in Franklin, where he attended the public schools. Later he attended the Broadway school.

He was married in 1860 and entered the employ of E. B. & E. C. Kellogg, lithographers, as an artist.

The next spring he heard a speech by Joseph H. Hawley, later a Civil war general and United States senator, and decided to enlist. He became a member of Rifle Company A, of which Joseph R. Hawley was captain.

His enlistment was on April 18, 1861, and he was mustered out July 31, 1861. He re-enlisted in Company F, Thirtieth regiment, Nov. 1, 1861, and was mustered out June 27, 1862. The regiment took part in the expedition to the Gulf under General Benjamin F. Butler.

While the regiment was at New Orleans, Sergeant Case was granted leave of absence to recruit a company of the First Louisiana National guard, colored troops, and he soon sailed up the Mississippi river to recruit the company.
